

SAINT APOTHECARY'S

EVIL BONE WATER

— Zheng Xie Gu Shui —

Traditional Chinese Herbal Liniment

Evil Bone Water® is a premium Chinese herbal liniment handcrafted with high-quality, Imperial-grade ingredients. Traditionally used for pain, swelling, bruising, sprains, strains, overuse injuries, recovery, and first aid. Its fast-absorbing, deep-penetrating formula supports a wide range of topical applications. For external use only. Do not ingest.

Common Clinical Uses:

- Incidental Injuries (particularly sports injuries)
- Joint Pain
- Spinal Pain
- Muscle & Ligament Pain
- Bruising
- Sprains
- General Pain
- Cuts & Insect Bites
- Infection
- Burns
- Inflammation
- First Aid

How to Apply:

- Apply directly to the affected area
- Rub into the skin until absorbed
- Use 2-4 times daily, or as needed
- Wash hands after application if desired
- If sprayed, it vents the surface and cools.

Ingredients:

- Zhang Nao (Natural Camphor)
- Bo He Nao (Natural Menthol)
- Gui Pi (Cinnamon Bark)
- Hu Zhang (Japanese Knotweed)
- E Zhu (Zedoary)
- Quality-Treated Water
- Bai Zhi (Angelica)
- Ji Gu Xiang (Croton)
- Qian Jin Ba (Flemingia Root)
- Bai Niu Dan (Elecampane)
- San Qi (Ginseng)
- High Quality Alcohol*

FAQ's:

• Who makes Evil Bone Water?

Evil Bone Water is handcrafted by our Master Herbalist, Dr. Mark T. Brinson.

• How often can EBW be applied?

Apply as needed, typically 2-4 times daily.

• Can EBW be used on open wounds?

Yes, for minor cuts, scrapes, and abrasions. It is very safe due to its relatively low Camphor percentages.

*Caution: Flammable

"When in doubt, put Evil Bone Water on it."

727-498-1183

SAINT APOTHECARY

www.evilbonewater.com

team@evilbonewater.com

